Dear Dr. Ryrie:

It's been way too many years. Hope you're well.

I've enclosed an Advance Reader Copy of my next novel. I, Saul is something unique for me, a combination contemporary and historical work that alternates chapters between a present day main character and the Apostle Paul in the First Century.

I feel as if I spent the entire writing period at the James MacDonald seminary. Having access to Dr. MacDonald's research and sermon notes (and brain) was a rich privilege and I feel informed my writing as never before.

Worthy Publishing is really excited about I, Saul and is getting behind it with a massive promotional campaign, including a ten-city tour and national TV commercials, among many other strategies.

I wanted you to be able to take a peek a couple of months in advance, Dr. Ryrie, in the hope that you will enjoy reading it as much as I enjoyed writing it.

If you do and would be willing to lend your name to a line or two of endorsement, I'd be so grateful. Just email your comments to Morgan@WorthyPublishing.com or to me at jbj@jerryjenkins.com.

Sincerely in Christ,

Jerry
